Convocation at Carleton University

The Convocation ceremony (the calling together of the academic assembly) has its roots in university traditions of medieval Europe.

The Mace

The mace is a staff symbolizing authority. In the days of knighthood, it was a weapon, but after the 16th century it became solely a symbol of authority carried by a distinguished member of an assembly. It is used on ceremonial occasions to signify the right of an individual or institution to perform a certain function—in the case of universities, to grant degrees.

At Convocation, the mace is carried ahead of the Chancellor as he enters and leaves each ceremony. (Marshal of Convocation H.H.J. Nesbitt has performed this function for all but one of the University's 88 Convocations.) During the ceremony the mace is displayed on a special stand as an embodiment of the authority of the University.

Carleton's mace was presented to the University in 1976 as a gift from the Chairman of the Board of Governors at that time, Mr. Hyman Soloway. It is a silver-plated staff approximately three feet long. At the upper end there is a bowl marked with the University's coat of arms and the University motto in both Latin and English—"Opera Nobis Aeterna" and "Ours the Task Eternal." From the upper portion of the bowl rises a phoenix. Traditional oak leaves surround the lower end of the staff.

Coat of Arms

Carleton University's coat of arms is described in heraldic terms as follows: "On a field sable; in radiants d'argent, a maple leaf gules charged with an open book; crest—a phoenix proper." It is comprised of a black shield bearing an open book on a red maple leaf surrounded by silver rays. The shield is surmounted by a phoenix, and below the shield is a scroll bearing the motto "Ours the Task Eternal."

The open book on the maple leaf signifies that Carleton University is in the nation's capital and that learning is open to all who wish to partake of it. The radiants are the light of learning. The phoenix, the legendary eternal bird, symbolizes the renewing of learning from older foundations, in recognition of Henry Marshall Tory's role in the founding of the University when he was 82 years old. "Ours the Task Eternal" is taken from a Walt Whitman poem entitled "Pioneers" and ties in with the eternal quality of the phoenix.

And so, the Carleton University coat of arms symbolizes sound learning, good citizenship, and the highest hopes of humanity.

The Diploma

The diploma the graduates receive at Convocation is the certificate of qualification which publishes the fact that the student has fulfilled all the requirements and completed the prescribed course of study for the degree. As the senior academic legislative body of the University, it is the Senate which has determined whether the requirements have been met. The signatures of both the Chancellor and the President of the University appear on the diploma: the Chancellor because of his role in conferring the degree, and the President who, as Chairman of Senate, certifies that Senate has enacted the required motion to award the degree. The Seal of the University is affixed to the diploma as a mark of authentication.

Academic Dress

The academic dress of Carleton University is a compromise between that found in the ancient foundations of Britain and Canada and the American Intercollegiate Code. All three hoods—bachelor's, master's, and doctor's—are of the simple or Oxford shape. Bachelor's is made of black stuff; master's and doctor's are made of black silk and all are lined with silver silk with two chevrons, one of red and one of black. From bachelor's to doctor's the hoods are progressively longer and opened to show more and more of the lining.

The velvet border of the hoods denotes the degrees granted according to the following colour combinations: architecture—cerise; arts—white; commerce—camel brown; computer science—royal blue; engineering—orange; industrial design—dark cardinal; journalism—white with a black cord sewn slightly in from the lower border; music—venetian pink; public administration—peacock blue; science—golden yellow; social work—cream; and doctor of philosophy—purple.

The bachelor's gown, to be worn with the above hoods, is of full length, made of black stuff, with a gathered yolk behind, and long open-fronted sleeves. The master's gown is of full style, made of black silk or rayon, with full gathered yolk behind, and closed sleeves with an opening at the elbows. The doctoral gown is the same style as the master's, made of fine royal blue cloth with facings of light blue silk.

The gown of the Honorary Doctor of Laws, Literature, Science, and Engineering is a full robe with bell-shaped sleeves, made of fine royal blue cloth with facings and sleeves in light blue silk. The hood is made of the same material as the gown, has the same lining as that for degrees by examination, and is bordered with dark mauve for the degree Doctor of Laws; vibrant blue for the degree Doctor of Literature; red for the degree Doctor of Science; and orange for the degree Doctor of Engineering.

The Presiding Officer of Convocation is the Chancellor,

Recipients of Honorary Degrees

Maxwell William Ward
LL.D.

Maxwell Ward, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Wardair Canada Inc., is being awarded the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, at the first Convocation ceremony on Thursday morning, June 9, "in recognition of a career exemplifying enterprise, imagination, and courage, which has powerfully enhanced Canada's reputation as a provider of world-class air transportation."

Dr. Ward was born and educated in Edmonton. He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1940 where he received his pilot's wings and served as a commissioned flight instructor at various Canadian bases during the Second World War.

In 1946, he organized his own company, Polaris Charter Co. Ltd., based in Yellowknife, and with one two-passenger, single-engine "Fox Moth" aircraft carried supplies and passengers throughout the sub-Arctic. Wardair expanded steadily throughout the 1950s and in 1962 its first international passenger charter service was launched between Western Canada and Great Britain. In 1967, Wardair bought the first Boeing aircraft ever sold in Canada with the purchase of a 109-seat "Boeing 727". Today Wardair is recognized as Canada's largest international charter air carrier.

Throughout his career, Dr. Ward has received many awards and citations for his achievements including the Billy Mitchell Award (1971), the Trans-Canada McKee Trophy (1973), membership in Canada's Aviation Hall of Fame (1974), the Order of Canada (1975), an honorary life membership in the Air Transport Association of Canada (1978), the Canadian Silver Tourism Medallion (1982) and honorary degrees from the University of Alberta (1979), York University (1981), Trent University (1983), Lakehead University (1987), and Athabasca University (1987).

Robert Law McDougall
B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

Robert Law McDougall, Professor Emeritus of English at Carleton University, is being awarded the degree of Doctor of Literature, honoris causa, at the afternoon Convocation ceremony on Thursday, June 9, "in recognition of an outstanding contribution to the University through a scholarly achievement of international stature in the field of Canadian literature."

Dr. McDougall was born in North Vancouver, B.C. in 1918 and is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and the University of Toronto. After serving in World War II, he began postgraduate studies at the University of Toronto, where he specialized in Canadian literature as a member of staff at University College.

In 1957 he was invited to join the Department of English at Carleton University and asked to set up the Institute of Canadian Studies which would unite the relevant interests of six departments in the humanities and social sciences. He became the Institute's first director in 1958 and served in that capacity for the next ten years. During that period, with the co-operation of Jack McClelland of McClelland and Stewart, he initiated the Carleton Library Series of Canadian reprints and new compilations (a series which was to run to 150 titles and generate more than a million copies in sales) and served as general editor of the series until his retirement from the Institute in 1968.

Dr. McDougall was a founding member of the Association for Commonwealth Literature and Language Studies and held the post of international chairman of the Association from 1968 to 1971. He has lectured on Canadian writing, by invitation, in Australia, India, the United States, and Great Britain. More recently, he has played a prominent role in the work of the Centre for the Editing of Early Canadian Texts at Carleton University.

He retired in 1984. In 1985, he published The Poet and the Critic, an edition of correspondence between E.K. Brown and D.C. Scott. A selection of his articles on Canadian literature is currently being prepared for the press.

Madeleine Parent
B.A.

Madeleine Parent, labour and women's rights activist, is being awarded the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, at the afternoon Convocation ceremony on Friday, June 10, "in recognition of significant service as a leader in the Canadian labour movement and as a spokesperson for women workers and for Canadian nationalism."

Ms Parent was born in Montreal and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from McGill University in 1940. At McGill she was active in the Canadian Students' Assembly and on graduating she organized the International Ladies' Garment Workers (American Federation of Labour) and the Textile Workers of America. She was active in the Montreal Trades and Labour Council and, in 1942, for the War Organizing Committee.

She was released from her position as an organizer for the Textile Workers in 1952 because of pressure from then Premier Maurice Duplessis and the owners of Dominion Textile.

Four years later, Ms Parent helped establish the Council of Textile Workers as a Canadian labour central located in Hamilton, Ontario, and in 1968, she helped establish an independent Canadian labour congress, the Confederation of Canadian Unions. In 1983, she retired as Vice-President of the Confederation and returned to Montreal where she now teaches part-time at the Université de Montréal in the Department of Industrial Relations. From 1984 to 1988, she was the Quebec representative on the National Action Committee on the Status of Women (NGO), the largest women's organization in Canada.

Throughout her career, Ms Parent has been in the forefront of organizing workers and nationalist organizations. As a member of the Canadian Committee on Women, she continues to be a spokesperson for women workers and Canadian nationalism.

Ursula Franklin
Ph.D., LL.D.

Ursula Franklin, Professor in the Department of Metallurgy and Materials Science at the University of Toronto, is being awarded the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa, at the morning Convocation ceremony on Saturday, June 11, "in recognition of an outstanding career as a scientist who is a social activist preoccupied with such vital modern concerns as the social impact of technology, world peace, and the role of women in science and society.

Dr. Franklin was born and educated in Germany. She moved to Canada in 1949 for post-doctoral studies at the University of Toronto. From 1952 to 1967, she was Research Fellow and later Senior Research Scientist at the Ontario Research Foundation. Since 1967, Dr. Franklin has taught in the Department of Metallurgy and Materials Science at the University of Toronto.

Since 1980, Dr. Franklin has been Director of the University of Toronto's Collegium Archaeometricum, an interdisciplinary group of scholars from the University and the Royal Ontario Museum who are engaged in joint teaching and research. For three years, she served on the National Sciences and Engineering Research Council (NSERC), and had extensive involvement in the formulation of the NSERC five-year plan designed to guide federal support policies for research and development in universities.

Dr. Franklin has received numerous awards for her achievements including the Muriel Duckworth Award from the Canadian Research Institute for the Advancement of Women (1984), and the Marguerite and Vernon Heaslip Award for Environmental Stewardship, National Survival Institute (1984). She was the first Canadian to receive honorary membership in the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, an honour society for women educators. Dr. Franklin became an Officer of the Order of Canada in 1982. She holds honorary degrees from Acadia University (1984), Queen's University (1984), York University (1985), and the University of Guelph (1988).

George J. Klein
B.A.Sc., LL.D.

George J. Klein, former Principal Research Officer for the National Research Council, is being awarded the degree of Doctor of Engineering, honoris causa, at the afternoon Convocation ceremony on Saturday, June 11, "in recognition of an outstanding career as one of Canada's most prolific and successful inventors and design engineers."

Dr. Klein's career in engineering design and research began at the University of Toronto in the late 1920s. In 1929 he joined the aeronautical research staff of the National Research Council of Canada where he became Principal Research Officer and Head of the Engineering Laboratory of the Council's Division of Mechanical Engineering from 1929 to 1969.

During World War II, he developed fire-control instruments and conducted research on high velocity projectiles and projectile fuses. Dr. Klein was responsible for the mechanical design and construction of ZEEP, the two energy atomic reactor at Chalk River, Ontario. His experience in snow mechanics and his ability as a designer contributed to the development of the American over-snow military motor vehicle known as the Weasel or M29. Of the numerous designs to Dr. Klein's credit, perhaps the most unusual was the invention of STEM, a storable tubular extendible member, that was used on the Canadian Alouette I satellite by NASA in September, 1962.

In 1953, Dr. Klein developed a wheelchair electric drive design for the use of quadriplegics. The electric wheelchairs available today are basically of the same original Klein design. He was also co-inventor of a surgical instrument for mechanically suturing severed arteries. On his retirement from NRC in 1969, Dr. Klein was appointed adjunct professor and consultant to graduate students in engineering design at Carleton University.

Dr. Klein is an associate fellow of the Royal Aeronautical Society. For his contributions in the field of science during World War II, he was made a Member of the Order of the British Empire. In 1968, he was appointed an Officer of the Order of Canada and received an honorary degree from Waterloo Lutheran University.

He was Vice-President (Faculty and Student Affairs) at the University of British Columbia from 1975 to 1981.

Dr. Vogt was President of the Canadian Association of Physicists (1970-71). This month, the association awarded him the 1988 CAP Medal for Achievement in Physics. He received the Centennial Medal of Canada in 1967, and was elected to the Royal Society of Canada in 1970. In 1976, Dr. Vogt was appointed an Officer of the Order of Canada, and in 1977 was awarded the Queen Elizabeth Jubilee Medal. In 1978, he was appointed the first Chairman of the Science Council of British Columbia, a position he held until 1980. At present he serves as chairman of many scientific councils and committees including the Physics Advisory Council of Princeton University, the Nuclear Science Advisory Committee of the Stanford Linear Accelerator (SLAC), the Physics Advisory Committee of Indiana University, and the Advisory Committee for the Institute of Nuclear Sciences of M.I.T.
